

In order to apply for The Whickers Film & TV Funding Award, your film will need to meet the following criteria. Here are the rules:

- The film must be the applicant's first director or co-director credit on a documentary that is 50 minutes or more. This rule applies to any previous documentary that has already been seen by the public (whether by broadcast, online, theatrical release or otherwise). It only applies to previous films of 50 minutes or more that are documentaries.
- The total budget for your 50+ minute documentary feed cannot exceed the value of £400,000. This is a fund for low budget documentaries that might not otherwise be made.
- Applicants who already have other funding sources to the value of more than £300,000, at the time they apply, are not eligible.
- The film should be in late development to early production at the time of applying. The Funding Award is not a finishing fund for documentaries that are near completion.
- If selected for our shortlist, the director should be available to travel to the UK to pitch the film at the Sheffield International Documentary Festival in June 2024. The Whickers will cover reasonable travel and accommodation for the trip.
- The Whickers cannot transfer the award money to an individual's personal bank account. The funding winner may need to set up a special project account within an umbrella production company, receive funds into their own company account, or use the services of a fiscal sponsor.
- Applicants must have an Executive Producer on board at the time of applying. This should be somebody with extensive industry experience who can vouch for you professionally, and who can act as a guide and mentor through the process of making your first full length documentary film.
- If the applicant is applying as a co-director, both directors need to meet the criteria above.

Considering the checklist above, please confirm that your project is eligible and that you will inform us if there is a change in circumstances. If you have any queries, please contact The Whickers at info@whickerawards.com.
